WISCONSIN IS 70 YEARS OLD TODAY; LEGISLATURE STOPS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, May 28.—This is Wisconsin's seventieth birthday, and the Wisconsin legislature held only nominal sessions in both branches. Under the pressure of high speed, both houses of the legislature cleaned up their calendar Wednesday, and will not reconvene until next Tuesday.

The feature of Wednesday night's session of the assembly was the ruling of Speaker Young, that a man who is paired cannot move a reconsideration of a vote. This ruling put the eight-hour bill out of business in the assembly. The M. E. Johnson eight-hour bill was killed at last week's session of the assembly by vote of 41 to 38.

Assemblyman Dettlinger of Jackson county was paired against the bill and moved reconsideration. Assemblyman John L. Nolan raised the point of order that the bill could not be reconsidered. While the ruling of Speaker Young ends the fight on the Johnson eight-hour bill, a duplicate of the M. E. Johnson substitute has been introduced in the senate by Senator George B. Scott of River Falls.

The assembly passed after a sharp fight the Arnold bill giving the county board of health power to order the state fair grounds at Milwaukee to be closed to the public.

There was no opposition in the assembly to the passage of the bill repealing the act of 1917 which provided for the collection of 12 million dollars to be raised to pay Wisconsin's soldiers' bonuses. The assembly passed a vote of 81 to 15 the Jordan bill, increasing the rate of taxation on grain. It passed the Burkup bill, giving power to the board of health in cities of the second and third classes to establish a housing home.

Assemblyman Ballard attempted to kill the bill to detach a portion of the town of Richmond and add the same to the town of Shawano. Assemblyman Weoman said that a large paper mill was located in this town and that the city of Shawano was compelled to furnish fire and police protection. By a vote of 81 to 15 the assembly refused to kill the bill and it was finally passed. The assembly passed the Porter bill requiring the placing of warning sign on poles carrying wires at a voltage of six thousand volts or over.

LIVESTOCK SANITARY LAW IS OPPOSED

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, May 29.—The appeal of the present livestock sanitary board law and the creation of a new livestock sanitary board composed of experts was advocated before the senate committee on state affairs, Tuesday. The friends of the proposed measure charged laxity in the enforcement of the present laws; charged favoritism and claimed that tuberculosis among Wisconsin cattle was on the increase.

Commissioner of Agriculture, A. J. Risky, of Madison, opposed the proposed measure and claimed that the sanitation of Wisconsin cattle was being cared for.

The new bill proposed a bureau of animal industry under the governor. It was favored by Carl N. Hill, Madison.

"The present livestock sanitary board has been a failure," said Mr. Hill. "A number of states have refused to accept the tests made by Wisconsin, because this state has approved of the layman's method of testing cattle."

The new bill provides that this test shall be made by competent veterinarians.

"Tuberculosis among animals is on the increase," said Dr. C. Schmitt, Dodgeville. "The livestock sanitary board of this state has been a failure."

William Fehlow, Watertown, told of the state tuberculosis farm for cattle near Hubberton. He said that the milk from the farm was so dirty that the Van Camp factory at Watertown had refused to take it. He said that cattle that had died from tuberculosis had not been properly buried.

A. J. Risky, Watertown, also protested against the tests made by the board.

Commissioner of Agriculture C. P. Norgard said that he could not answer for the different cases that had been cited before the committee. He indicated the farmers who claimed that they had been discriminated against.

Norgard denied that the Van Camp people had refused to take the milk from the Hubberton state farm because it was dirty. He said that the managers of the plant felt that people would think that condensed milk made from tuberculosis cattle would not be sanitary and that this was the real reason for refusing to take the milk.

CHILDREN MAKE HEALTH WEEK POSTERS

"Flies are bolsheviks—destroy them." The boys have been busy from every angle in the school children of the city in their health week posters.

"Kill Flies and Save Babies." "Down with the Fly Before He Kills You." "Little Flies Spread Big Diseases." "No Flies on Us." are a few of their slogans.

Many people have remarked about the clever posters in the Reliable Drug Store window. Two apples skillfully drawn and colored and beneath them this verse: "An apple a day keeps the doctor away. An apple at night makes the dentist's bill light." has tempted many a passerby. This drawing was done by Florence Smiley, Jefferson school. Others worthy of mention and inspection are: "Don't Cramp Your Machinery." "A Clean Yard Makes a Clean City." "Good Teeth, Good Health." "Eat Fruit and Have Good Health." "Keep Hands and Nails Clean." "Help Make a Clean Janesville." "Clean Up and Clear Up." "Breathe Fresh Air." "Lend Me a Hand." "Good Health Fighters." "Get To Work and Clean Up." "Success Good Health." "Clean up for Them." and "I Am Ready To Help" all show that the children of Janesville are awake to the health problems.

Mrs. Ruth Brown, art instructor in the schools, said that although she directed the work the ideas all originated with the children. They planned and mounted them, then drew, colored, cut and mounted them in the city from the fourth to the eighth grades entered into the work. Some of the larger posters were made by groups of pupils, as the poster displayed in the Grand Hotel window which was done by a group from the Grant school.

FRANCE'S OPPORTUNITY.
The thought sometimes expressed by Frenchmen that in spite of the allied victory, German industries may still outdistance those of France in the new race for world trade seems unduly pessimistic. In fact, the situation as viewed from this distance
looks exceedingly bright for France
and correspondingly dark for Germany.

It has been said that there is no sentiment in business; that people invariably buy in the cheapest market. The Germans doubtless held to this idea
during the war. Had they imagined that sentiment could ever enter into the business equation, they would have conducted the war along more civilized lines. But the German government, in this instance as in many others, was mistaken. Sentiment is a factor in business, and the label
"Made in Germany" will not mean in the years ahead what it meant before the war. This will be especially true in the allied countries of Europe.

But it is not sentiment alone that will help industrial France back upon her feet. Today the industrial power of any nation is dependent not so much upon iron and coal. Never before upon the mines of the Saar and Alsace-Lorraine completely French, and with the Silesian mines in Polish hands, France will be better supplied with these precious minerals than Germany.

Nor are the above factors all. During the next few years taxation will be a much more serious problem to German than to French manufacturers.
The Germans must pay, in addition to their own national debt, an in-demnification which may easily equal the entire national debt of France.
The raising of this indemnity will lay a burden on every industry in Germany.
The greatest handicap laid upon French industry has been the stealing and destruction of machinery in French factories by Germans, restitution of which could be compelled whenever possible. Where it has been destroyed, Germany money will replace it with new and perhaps more up-to-date equipment.

THE BEST KIND
A young man started a small men's clothing store in a Middle Western city. He had a capital of $12,000, and borrowed $2,000 more. He also had ideas and nerve. Before he opened his door he had invested $5,000 in newspaper advertising.
Today, 22 years later, he is reputed to do the largest retail men's clothing
business of the world, and his store
has a nation-wide reputation as a leader. In those thirty-two years he has spent $5,000,000 in newspaper advertising.

Speaking of the part newspaper advertising played in his success, the other day, this man said:

"It may seem strange, but the people believe what they read in the newspapers. That's what makes advertising in the newspapers so valuable. I have always made it a point to state the truth exactly, never to exaggerate. I would rather have the customer a little surprised when he looked at the goods than a little disappointed."

"I've tried advertising on billboards, in street cars, in magazines, and pamphlets. In none of them I once sent up a flock of geese with letters tied to their backs, and prizes—$500, $100
and other awards—to the finders.
"I stuck up sign posts all over the city. Well, some of them went for kindling wood; some were torn down by the city. I tried many other ways of advertising—but the newspapers proved by all means the best. I kept everlastingly at it. Advertising is to the building up of a business
what steam is to commerce."

AN APPEAL
Dr. J. H. Fraude, director of the United States School Garden Army
has sent the following message to the boys and girls of this nation who have worked so untiringly for the success
increased crop production:

"This old world is tired and sick and hungry. The war has left a frightful wound on the face of civilization that will take time and work and care to heal without leaving an ugly scar. You helped to win the war, and now you will help to heal the wounds
it made. Millions of boys and girls in Europe are sick and weak because they do not have enough to eat. Hundreds of thousands are actually starving. Until these are all well fed our work as a garden army is not finished.
It will take years before this can be done. By growing gardens in times of peace you are still helping to fight the great battles of democracy for democracy is not safe while people are hungry. You are not only helping others but you are learning some of the most valuable lessons that can be learned. While doing your part to help the world you are gaining knowledge and power that will make you a bigger, better, stronger man or woman."

"Let us put our garden flag in the home of every American boy and girl and show every country that we wish to pull our share of the load."

We can say for Rock county state trunk highway patrolmen that they
at least make some attempt to keep the roads in good condition. In Jer-ferson county, judging from a strip of highway from Koshkonong station to St. Atkinson, this is not true. One of the roughest roads to be encountered around this vicinity can be found on this stretch of nine miles. Not a day's work has been done for at least the last two months and some of the ruts

are so deep and ragged that it is difficult to remain seated in a motor car
in passing over them.

Some of the automobile drivers in this city as well as in the country are careless in observing the rule of the road as well as the state law. Many of them take desperate chances by driving on the wrong side of the street in passing. This has been especially noticeable in the city in the last few days. A fine might have the effect of making them more careful.

Many a man who would not think of slighting his work has been counting the hours until he can tie himself to the river or lake and get after those fish he has pictured as his by right of conquest. With good weather the disciples of the Walton will be on the job
early tomorrow.

An Iowa city has purchased an airplane to be used as a boosting vehicle.
Boosting one's city is something to get up in the air about at that and if the aviator is equipped with a lot of forceful bombs with which to advertise his city, he will put apathy to rout.

Around the State

Aged Pioneer Dies.
Forest Junction, May 29.—Michael Plutsky, 84, a pioneer of the town of Forest Junction, who died last week was buried Monday.

Mr. Plutsky was perhaps the best known farmer of Calumet county. He came from Ireland with his parents in 1848. In 1853 the family moved to Vernon, settling at Woodville, Calumet county, then a primeval forest.
Wild deer, bear, wolves, and all wild game and fish abounded in those days.
The Indian was a common sight. Supplies were brought from Green Bay by boat from Green Bay were carried by the settlers to their homes miles away on their backs.

There are 44 grand children, and 58
great grandchildren.

Tractors are Popular.
Appleton, May 29.—As the automobile has replaced the driving horses
in the city, so is the tractor replacing the plow horse in Outagamie county. It is estimated that there will be 100 in use in this vicinity this summer.

Want Gomers to Talk.
Appleton, May 29.—An effort is being made to get either Samuel Gomer or Frank E. Wirth to speak at the convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor to be held here from July 14 to 19. The convention will consist of: July 14, meeting of carpenters' guilds from all parts of the state; July 15, session of Wisconsin Liberty league, an organization opposed to prohibition; July 16, session of state federation of labor at which it is hoped to have one of the two men
mentioned above speak at the evening
session; July 17, session of state labor body with a big labor parade at the evening. July 18 and 19 will be taken up with business sessions.

Eagle's Program Out.
Appleton, May 29.—The program is out for the Eagle's state convention to be held here June 8 to 12. June 9 the first session will be held in the theater. The main address will be given by Post Grand Master Frank W. Armstrong, Racine, past grand and worthy president of Wisconsin.
He will speak on "War Activities of our Order." Lunch Tuesday morning will be taken up with a business session. That afternoon the delegates will be entertained at Neenah by the Neenah Eagles. Wednesday will go to Kaukauna and High Cliff by automobile. At night both men and women will be entertained at Lake Winnebago. Thursday afternoon the parade will be held. Numerous prizes will be offered.

Business Man Dies.
Manitowoc, May 29.—Albert Schuet-ette, president of the Schuetette Brothers company and one of the city's most progressive and popular young business men, died here after an illness of one week, aged 45 years. Death was due to pneumonia which developed from a cold caught a week ago. His wife and one son survive.

Found Roosevelt's Grave.
Janesville, May 29.—Robert Andrew Kleppon of this city, connected with the medical detachment of the 125th infantry, claims to be the man who found the grave of Quentin Roosevelt on the war front. He says he reported it officially to his commanding officer, Major Moore, Monroe. The next day Co. C of the 121st machine gun battalion moved to the very spot, found part of the airplane wrecked at the foot of a cross with the aviator's name on it and found one of Roosevelt's identification discs.

20 Caught for $100.
Manitowoc, May 29.—Twenty residents of Manitowoc county were caught in the operation of the American Rubber company and among the victims of the company were in the city papers is Edward Klumeyer, an alderman, socialist, from the third ward of the city. None of the local men invested more than $500 but each one was caught for $100 or more.

Hull Crashes Into Bridge.
Manitowoc, May 29.—One of the new hulls, just launched for the Emeray Fleet corporation, crashed into the Soc line swing bridge and knocked it off the turn table, bent the rails into an S and damaged the structure to such an extent that it may be days before trains can again cross. The accident happened when the hull gained too much momentum while being towed to the fitting out berth after having received its boilers and the Tug Arctic was unable to stop it.

New Promotion Plan Studied.
Washington.—Promotion in selection of officers of the peace time army through a system more radical than used by the navy is being considered by Secretary Baker.

Signing Up the New Arrival

ON THE SPUR
of the MOMENT
ROY E. MOULTON

"GULLEY." So mercilessly
kind.
Be sure no sword were sharp to give
such pain.
And no Medean magic could contain
So exquisite a torment for the mind.
No, not that wicked bridal crown
could bind
A fire more fearful on the shaken brain.
Nor the drugg'd splendid vest—which did not stain
The spirit though it ate the flesh, I find.
Of old times, sir, they crucified their
loves;
But you give just cold pity, and that's worse—
Why, death were nothing; a mere moment's dole—
Yet I believe your icy honor grieves.
And rather would it end to bless than curse.
These kill the body, but you slay a soul.
—Percy A. Child.

WHY ASK US?
Marie W. writes: "What magazine has the best fiction alphas? I think the ones 'Collier's' sends out are just too cute for anything. 'Life' has some good ones. My greatest ambition is to get one from 'The Century'."

GARDEN NOTES.
Where you expected a fine crop of French peas you get a mess of vegetable cypresses, and where you allowed only a little room for the string beans, figuring they would grow up in the air, you get a fine crop of cucumbers, which crawl all over the ground and in through the kitchen pipes under the sink. The cucumbers upset everything else in the garden except the watermelons. In the role of string bean the cucumber is a failure.

It is customary to work in the garden hard all day Monday, that being the day upon which to start every garden. On Tuesday you work four hours. On Wednesday you work two hours and then play golf. On Thursday you work a half hour and on Friday ten minutes. On Saturday you look out of the kitchen window to see if the garden is still there and on Sunday, of course, you cannot work in the garden.

Two weeks afterward the neighbors
have borrowed all the tools and you can't work in the garden even if you want to. When a man makes a garden it is like playing the ukulele or putting together puzzle pictures. He has to keep up it constantly. It is a poor armistice garden that will not yield three or four crooked radishes and a couple of sad looking green tomatoes in the course of a season.

BEYOND RECALL.
The buds came out, but my eyes were closed.
The wildflowers danced about my feet:
From leafy dell and smiling field
The vernal airs blew sweet.
Yet, deaf and blind, with spirit bleak,
I passed upon my stolid way;
But when the first snowflake smote
my cheek,
I mourned for my lost May.
—Doris Kenyon.

Some Hen!
West Salem, May 29.—Gus Rhodes,
farmer living near here on Route No.
2, claims to have a hen which lays from three to six eggs a day. Thirty eggs in one week is her record. Poultrymen are investigating.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

OLD-FASHIONED FLOWERS.
Old-fashioned flowers are like the folks of old that used to love
em.
They seem contented just to live an'
have God's sky above 'em.
They battle with the wind an' rain
an' brave the winter's snow.
But just as soon as spring returns
they start right in to grow.
They're not like temperamental flowers that call for special care.
They give their blooms from day to day to all who wander there.

They'll keep the ugliest corners of the yard an' make them bright.
They'll grow in any sort o' soil, an'
give the weeds a fight.
They're just like some kindly people
in their habits an' their ways.
Who do their best for all mankind
without a work of praise.
You never have to coax an' plead with them for blossoms sweet.
They're nodding at you all the time
an' dancin' round your feet.

Snappdragons never make a fuss, nor pinks, nor hollyhocks.
You never have to pamper the pe-
tunums of the pansies.
They're waitin' for you in the yard
just like old friends an' true.
Ready at any time o' day to give their charms to you.
So while the fancy blooms are fine,
by every mortal test,
I hold the good old-fashioned flowers
are after all the best.

WHO'S WHO
in the Daily News

LIEUT. COM. MARC A. MITCHER.
A name mentioned prominently in connection with the attempted out-rigger attack on the battleship
airplanes is that of Lieut. Commander Marc A. Mitcher, second in command of the ill-fated N.C-1, which fell into the ocean
near the Azores
islands and was obliged to quit the trans-Atlantic
race.

Mitcher took part in the aviation experiments
on the battleship
North Carolina,
and is a graduate
of the navy aviation class of 1916.
In 1918 he was placed in command of the naval air station
at Rockaway, L.
I., and later was in charge of the navy air station at Miami, Fla., one of the largest elementary training stations in the navy during the war. His combined record as a pilot and an executive signaled him
out for a place in the trans-Atlantic crew. He was born in Wisconsin in 1887, and entered the naval service as a midshipman from Oklahoma in 1904.

Three Bolshevik Spies to Every 50 Soldiers, Report

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Omsk, Siberia, May 29.—There are three spies to every fifty soldiers in the bolshevik army on the Ural front, according to an engineer who has investigated conditions there. He says that the discipline of the bolshevik army is severe and effective and is strengthened by the reign of fear caused by the operations of these spies.

The custom, he said, was to make the Letts and Jews commissioners in the army and these commissioners ruthlessly show down any officers and soldiers suspected of intriguing or double-dealing or whenever there was an error in strategy.

PEACE and WAR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Germany today made formal reply to the treaty terms presented to her May 7. When subjecting the German counter proposals appear to take issue with the allies on nearly all the important phases of the treaty, according to summaries received from Berlin and Paris.

Immediately after the presentation of Germany's reply Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, chief of the enemy peace mission, will be expected to leave Paris for Spa. Whether his departure will mark his retirement as a member of the German peace mission is not known. Several minor members of the German mission left Paris for Germany yesterday.

This afternoon a plenary session of the peace conference will be held for the purpose of communicating to the nations which broke the relations with Austria the peace terms which the Council of Four has decided to present to the representatives of the former dual empire. There is as yet some doubt as to the subject matter of the terms, reports indicating that the reparation clauses will be presented at a later meeting.

Dispatches from Paris indicate an agreement by the Council of Four on questions relative to the Adriatic and the city of Fiume. That city, according to the latest reports, is to be an independent municipality. The other arrangements made it is stated that certain of the Dalmatian islands are to go to Italy but it is understood that she will not get the Adriatic ports of Zara and Sebenico. The Italian government is officially at Paris for the first time since the peace conference began work. Monseigneur Corradi, papal under-secretary of state, being in the city with entire chiefs the status of Catholic missions in lands affected by the deliberations of the conference. It is improbable, it is said, that he will be officially received by the conference, because of the treaty of London, between France and Italy, which barred the Vatican from participation in discussions regarding questions connected with the war.

The statement was issued by Nikolai Lenin, the bolshevik premier of Russia, attacking Bela Kun, the chief of the soviet in Hungary, according to a report. The statement is said to assert that Bela Kun is a traitor to the world revolution and must be overthrown.

American troops are apparently to be immediately withdrawn from northern Russia, transports having arrived at Archangel and other ports which will relieve the men who have been holding the lines during the last winter.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

We fooled you, didn't we? You thought the printer had made a mistake and called Alice Brady by the wrong name. But you are wrong, because she did not change it to suit some manager, or press agent, but because a certain young actor asked her to do so.

It was not because she thought it was the name of Brady, but because she thought it would be much nicer all around if she would consent to changing her name to his.

Alice decided to be obliging and so it happened that rather William A. Brady announced her marriage to James L. Crane. Mr. Crane is an actor and the son of Rev. Frank Crane, the well-known journalist and former minister, who is now editor of the magazine Democracy. Dr. Crane performed the ceremony.

Miss Brady needs no introduction to photoplay fans. She had some success on the stage before entering the silent drama and her first picture was made for the World Pictures, of which her father was head. She studied for grand opera before entering the drama.

WHAT THEY ARE DOING
Marion Davies will appear next in "Getting Mary Married."

Wheeler Oakman, recently back from service overseas, plays opposite Viola Dana in "Palmyra."

E. J. Lincoln was once upon a time right guard on the Johnstown college football team.

DECORATION DAY, MAY 30th, 1919

Though we have just won a most glorious victory in the cause of Democracy, yet in the winning thousands of noble young men made the supreme sacrifice—and this Memorial Day is fraught with more significance than any which have preceded it.

Through all the years, since the first Memorial Day was observed, this store has ever in proper reverence allowed business to be forgotten on Memorial Day—so tomorrow, with the utmost honor to our departed heroes, this store will be closed all day.

DICE OF DESTINY.

JACKSON GREGORY

"It is perhaps not impossible," went on Torre evenly, "that a large part of the sum mentioned is now on the premises. We all know that my kinsman has always been his own banker; that he at all times has been able to produce a large amount of gold at a moment's notice."

"Unfortunately," answered his summons to the ranch, I came too late for him to make me cognizant of the hiding place. Perhaps you, prima mia, are better informed?"

"Perhaps," she answered him quietly, though the color still ran red in her cheeks.

"And perhaps," added Stanway significantly, "Senior Torre would be glad to have knowledge of this banco; would be glad to have the money handed over to his emissary?"

"Emissary?" Again Torre's black brows arched. "The fabrications of the American's suspicions are truly wonderful! He would suspect me of robbing myself?"

He laughed insolently. Stanway looked questioning at the girl.

"Prima mia," began Torre.

"The girl whirled upon him, her eyes flashing.

"Senior Torre," she cried passionately, "you make it necessary for me to remind you that our relationship is not of my choosing, and that we are not close enough for you to call me cousin! If you find it necessary to address me at all I should like to be addressed as Senorita de la Guerra. Please remember."

Torre flushed angrily but managed his careless smile.

"As you wish, Senorita de la Guerra," he retorted. "May I suggest something?"

"What is it?" shortly.

"Merely this: This man who calls himself Captain Juarez may be a rank impostor, as well as a scoundrel. Before even considering the matter of a ransom would it not be well to ask him to prove to us that he knows at least where our kinsman is? If you rang for Pedro again and sent him with the message—"

Torre rang and sat in a musing silence until Pedro came.

"Pedro," she said then, "tell Captain Juarez that we are considering his proposition. Tell him further that we wish to be certain that he really comes from the senior."

Pedro bowed, withdrew, and returned almost immediately, his face strangely white, his hand shaking as he held out something to the girl.

"It is the master's ring," he said, deeply agitated. "The ring he wore always upon his left hand. Senorita, senorita," his voice choking, his eyes glistening, "you will not let them kill him?"

"No, Pedro." She took the ring, her own eyes shining. "If harm comes to him, Pedro," she went on steadily, "we shall know what to do, shall we not?"

Pedro made no spoken answer. But his eyes, suddenly hard and cruel, went straight to Torre, resting full of meaning upon him. Then, turning abruptly, the servant left the room.

"It is papa grande's ring, Senior Stanway," she ignored Torre entirely. "I am afraid that Captain Juarez speaks the truth."

Stanway stood with drawn brows, staring at the floor. The whole affair was so eloquent of rascality on the part of the debonaire, black-mustached Torre it was so inconceivable that his presence here now was not a part of dark design, so ridiculous to suppose that Antonio de la Guerra had ever really purposed disinherit the girl who was dearer to him than daughters to most men—and yet what to do?

Suddenly Stanway bent forward, whispering swiftly, guardedly, to the girl.

"And then, after Stanway had finished—"

ished and stood erect again, looking down upon her, as Torre watched, his eyes narrowing suspiciously, her hand clenched, her chin squared, determination came into her men and voice.

"It is a chance, senior," she said. She rose and stood looking at him steadily, still ignoring Torre. "It is a game of dice with our destinies."

"And you will play it, seniorita?" eagerly from the American.

She made a little gesture as though she were banding something to him. "I place the dicebox in your hands, May I, Senior Billy?"

"Then," cried Stanway, "we must waste no time! Call Pedro."

She rang. Torre, still watching suspiciously, made no comment. Pedro came in his swift, silent fashion.

"Send word to Gucho to come to the house immediately," Stanway told him. "Let him bring three men with him. Let them come armed. And see that Captain Juarez does not leave the house. I shall—entertain Senior Torre."

A quick light of understanding leaped up in Pedro's eyes. He turned with a brief, grunted "Eueno," and hurried on his errand.

Torre had leaped to his feet, his face crimson.

"What does this mean?" he cried sharply. "As heir to the De la Guerra estates I demand—"

"Sit down!" Stanway's voice was very cool, but it rang with an unmissable command.

Pedro bowed, withdrew, and returned almost immediately, his face strangely white, his hand shaking as he held out something to the girl.

"It is the master's ring," he said, deeply agitated. "The ring he wore always upon his left hand. Senorita, senorita," his voice choking, his eyes glistening, "you will not let them kill him?"

namable conspiracy, sir? It is brigandage; it is outlawry; it is sheer defiance of every statute—"

"Good afternoon, Mr. Dempton," said the rancher pleasantly. "There is no conspiracy on our part. We merely wish to ask you a few questions, even to give you a chance to get out of this mess skin-whole. Sit down. The seniorita will be here in a moment."

The door opened and Teresa came in. She nodded brightly at Stanway, bestowed a look upon Vidal which plunged him into an ecstasy of delight, and with no word to Dempton went to Stanway's side.

"Have I kept you waiting?" she asked.

"No. I came in just a second before you." He drew out a chair for her and turned to Vidal. "Vidal, we have a few words to say to Mr. Dempton. Will you wait in the patio? I shall call you when we want you."

"Dempton," Stanway went on, "what passed between you and the Senior de la Guerra last night?"

"He sent for me to make a change in his will," said Dempton glibly. "He gave no reasons for what he was doing, although he must have noted my surprise."

"Did you know that he has been engaged during several years on his memoirs?"

Dempton, a lawyer trained to ask just such questions as that, looked at Stanway quickly, suspiciously. He hesitated a moment before answering.

"I have heard him speak of it," Stanway smiled at the girl, which she returned, and Dempton, plainly puzzled, watched them closely.

"The law is rather severe in the punishment it metes out to kidnapers, is it not, Mr. Dempton?"

"Yes."

"There is what you men of the law term an accessory before the fact?"

"Certainly," snapped the lawyer. "But if you care to consult me in a legal capacity—"

"I don't," lightly. "We are sending for Mr. Branson of Branson & Howard to advise us."

Dempton's tongue ran back and forth between his dry lips.

"Now," went on Stanway, without waiting for an answer, "how much money did Torre pay you for your part?"

Again Dempton had leaped to his feet, his face flushed, his eyes ablaze.

"You mean to insinuate—"

"Sit down!" Stanway caught him by the shoulders and drove him back into his chair. "Did you know that after you had gone and before he was spirited away Senior de la Guerra added certain notes to his memoirs?"

"What are you driving at?" fumed Dempton.

Stanway stepped to the door.

THE WISHING PLANE

WILLIS WINTER

Jack and Jane had never imagined that there could be such big guns on a battleship. When they reached the guns on the bow of the ship, that is, up in the front end, you know, a sailor had crawled down into the mouth of each of the big guns, until just his head and arms showed. So big was each hole that the sailor could wiggle and twist around in each of the guns.

Jack thought the sailors were brave indeed to crawl into the guns. He couldn't help but think what would happen if one of the guns would be fired off while they were in there.

They looked at the other guns around the deck of the ship and then the commander and some of his sailors helped them into the "wishing plane." If you have ever seen the picture of a battleship you probably notice that near the top of each one of the masts is a platform with some guns on it. Well that is where Jane and Jack and their friends were. They were many, many feet above the deck and when the waves of the ocean made the boat rock just a little bit the fighting top rock many feet to one side and then the other.

Ladydear and Jane didn't like it up there, but Jack did, because he had thought lots of times how he would like to be a gunner in the navy and fire one of the big guns from the fighting top.

When they reached the deck again there was a big surprise in store for them. They found that all Jack had to do was to pull the lever.

Jack looked along the top of the gun for a minute or two before he fired it. Commander Ready and the sailors couldn't see anything but ocean and sky before the gun, but that was because they were grown up and couldn't make-believe any more.

Jack could see another warship before the gun, all ready to fire on his battleship and kill Ladydear and Jane. Standing just as straight and proud as he could, he pulled the lever.

There was the biggest "boom!" the little folks had ever heard. Jack wouldn't admit it afterwards, but it scared him. Jane put both hands to her ears. Ladydear was just the least bit frightened. As for Booh, he gave two barks and then ran away. He would have run off the battleship right into the ocean if one of the sailors hadn't stopped him.

That's all for today.

By KID BIFF
Out there in Footville tomorrow afternoon there's going to be plenty of excitement. The old will be kicked off at three o'clock sharp. The game will run for nine innings or longer if necessary.

The game between the Lawrence Lunches and the Footville White Sox will virtually determine the championship of this part of the county. The two teams are easily the fastest semi-pro clubs in the county outside of Beloit.

The Janes will invade the village with practically the same nine which handed Edgerton such a nice trimming here Sunday. Eldred will be on the mound with Craoke doing the relieving work. Fans ought to be well-willing to put up their shekels on this kind of a combination. Allie Blick, southpaw, may possibly start the game in the box for the Janes. A number of fans are anxious to see the local boy labor to see if he can smoke out the Footville clan.

Tiddies Pierce will perform at short with dependable Boerigan on the initial sack. Owing to the absence of Miller who is going to the "Green City" tomorrow, Sunny Viney will cover second. Menzel will take Viney's place in left garden. This will add to the team's hitting strength. Dopp will hold down the far corner with Kuske in the center garden and Rice, the Madison star in right.

There is a possibility that Harry Craoke may be the keystone job allowing Viney to chase flies out in left. Sox Stronger Than Ever.

Footville will present practically the same nine as that which defeated the Blackhaws, 10 to 4, here a few weeks ago.

Blicker Smith, the Broadhead hurler, or Lentz, will twirl with Silverthorn behind the plate. Silverthorn is considered one of the best catchers around here while either one of the pitchers is capable of making the Janes stop high.

The Sox have one of the tightest infielders that has been seen here this year. Brown at short, the mighty Stuvengen at first, Curtis at second and Owen at third are all beseated players from their toes up. Stuvengen is the heaviest hitter on the team and if Rube Eldred can hold him down to one or no hits then he will have done something that has not been done this year.

Batting against Fleming here a few weeks ago the long geared first baseman drove out a brace of two biggers and a single. Viney struck him out the last time up.

In the outfield there is one change. Timms, who caught the last game for the Sox here, will take Torpy's place in right. Vaughn and Kennedy will take care of the rest of the field. The latter got two singles off Fleming. Manager Silverthorn is looking for a pitcher and an infielder for tomorrow's game.

All Janes are ordered by Manager Murphy to report at the London hotel not later than 12:30 o'clock tomorrow noon. Curs will be waiting there to take them to Footville.

A good-sized delegation of rooters, loyal to the Janes, will leave early in the afternoon.

HITS

May Not Go to A. E. F. Meet.
Chicago, May 29.—Western college athletes selected to meet the A. E. F. games in France next month are unlikely to desert their institutions and will remain at home to compete in the nineteenth annual track and field games of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association on Stagg Field, June 7.

Cold water was thrown on the ambitions of the selected athletes yesterday when Everett C. Brown, national committeeman in this section, received a telegram from Fred Ruben, secretary of the National A. A. U. stating the athletes will have to pay their own expenses to New York and will have to wear the uniform of the branch of service they were in.

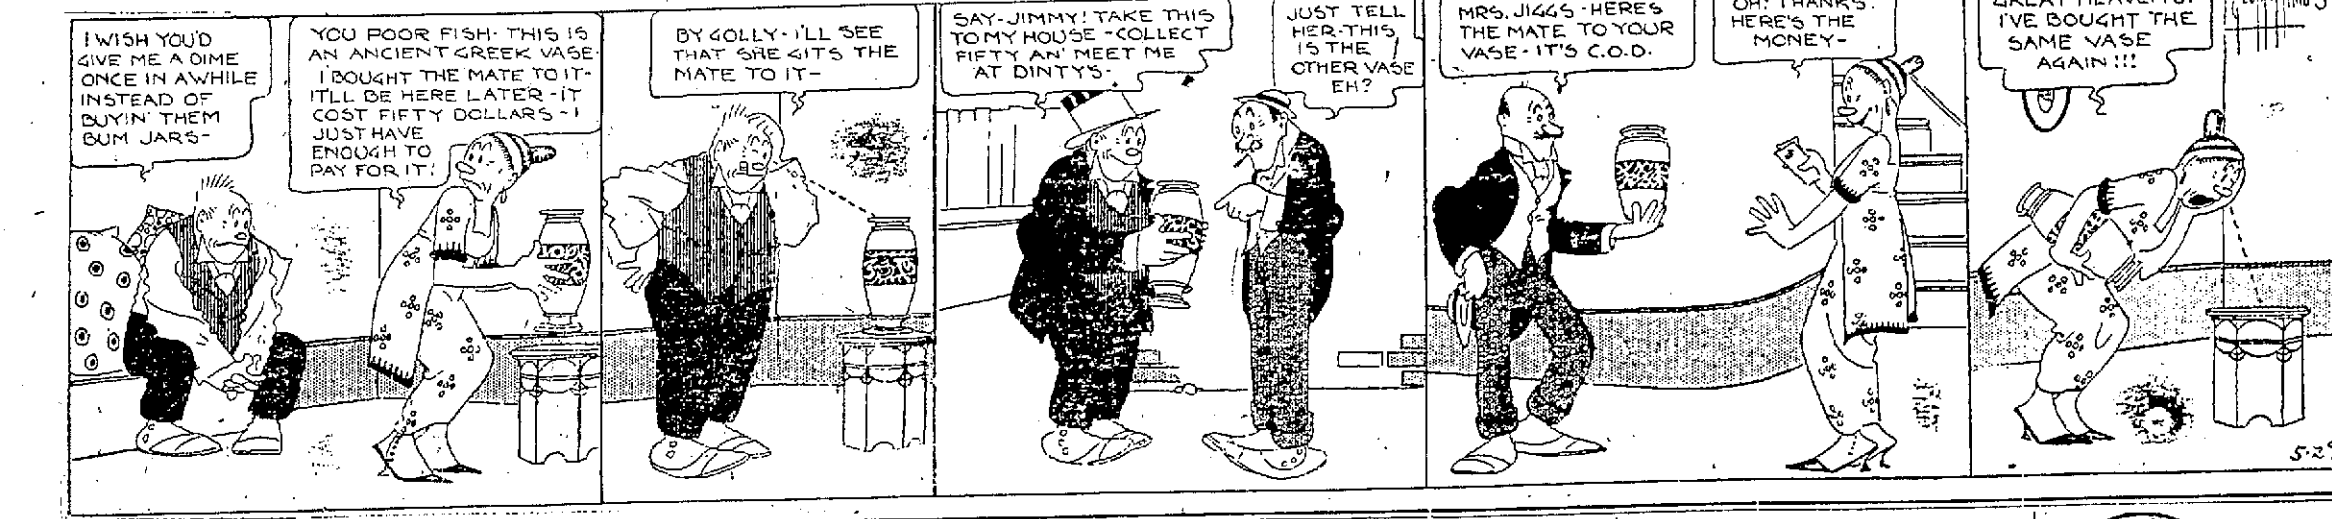

Suits Against Feds Dismissed.
Chicago, May 29.—A chancery suit filed by Mordecai Brown, former pitcher for the Chicago Cubs and later manager of the St. Louis Federal league team, in October, 1917, was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter on a motion of Attorney Louis J. Beehan, representing Brown. The suit was for salary claimed by Brown on an unexpired contract as manager of the St. Louis Federal League team. Brown was relieved of his duties a year ago and before his contract expired. It called for a salary of $1,200 a month.

One-armed Golfers Play.
London, May 29.—A Times cablegram from Cologne tells of a one-armed British general playing golf at the Empire day festivities. Walter Phillips, secretary of the American Golfing society of London, says there are hundreds of empty sleeves upon the links of Great Britain. Some have become so proficient that they excel two-armed players.

Notre Dame After Title.
Notre Dame, Ind., May 29.—Notre Dame has entered 16 men to compete with Indiana, Purdue and other teams in the Indiana state championship track meet Thursday at Wabash.

Krone After Film Rights.
Chicago, May 29.—Doc Krone, representing a Chicago syndicate, yesterday wired Tex Rickard a proposition to buy the motion picture rights of the Willard-Dempsey bout at Toledo, July 1.

Flashes From The Diamond

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]

Hugo Bezdek unleashed a whole benched of Pirate substitutes against the Giants, tied things up in the ninth and won out.

McGraw indulged in four twirlers but the quartet got banged for 13 hits. Incidentally, they walked eight Pirates.

Vaughn, who essayed to twirl for the Cubs, got nicked for three triples. Nelt, for the Braves, tightened when the Cubs landed men on the sacks.

Cactus Gavalith helped himself to another circuit wallop and scored himself ahead of him.

The Reds bunched six hits which, combined with a walk and an error, netted five runs in the fifth, thereby taking Pfeffer failed to win his game against the Cards, but it was hardly his fault. Jeff got a triple and single, drove in one run and scored another. The Cards outbit the Dodgers 15 to 10.

The Yanks won but their standing remains unchanged. They beat the Pittsburgh Rubber company team at Akron, Ohio, while enroute from St. Louis to Washington.

Only five games in the major leagues today. Soft for the sport 'eds.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

The fair contestants of the New York Women's Swimming association have again demonstrated country-wide leadership in water sports this season, as they did also in 1918. Members of the association scored the greatest number of points in the national A. C. aquatic indoor championships.

It should be added too that these are somewhat misleading, for local stars were unable to attend the 50 and 220-yard title swims and the girl who won both events, Miss Bessie Ryan of the Meadowbrook club, was defeated by New York's two leaders just before she left for the coast. Miss Charlotte Boyle took her measure conclusively at 100 yards and Miss Ethel Biebreit outswam her at 500 yards.

Miss Boyle garnered 11 of the points credited to the New York organization. She won the 100-yard free style swim and the 100-yard distance, then took third in the 500-yard swim.

Miss Biebreit contributed eight points. She won the 500-yard free swim and finished second by a touch in the 150-yard back stroke contest, which saw the world's record for women lowered by two full strokes.

Little Miss Helen Wainwright, a 12-year-old prodigy, brought the total to 30 points by taking third place in the fancy diving springboard championship, an event in which competed the ablest group of full grown candidates ever gathered for the annual fixture.

When Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey enter the ring for their 12-round bout at Bay View park, Toledo, Ohio, July 1, they will compete probably before the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a title boxing bout. This is indicated in the reports of the advance sale of tickets which has now passed the $270,000 mark, and will probably reach $500,000.

The significance of this advance sale is best illustrated through a comparison with the receipts of the Jim Jeffries-Jack Johnson title bout at Reno back in 1910. Pugilistic attendance and financial records were created in that contest, which will be eclipsed in the forthcoming bout. The gross receipts totaled $270,775, and the match was witnessed by a crowd estimated at between 19,000 and 20,000.

In the coming bout, Willard will be boxing for a fat guarantee of $100,000, and Dempsey for a prize of $27,500, a record in purses.

ALL-STARS EAGER TO DOWN BELOIT CLAN TOMORROW AFTERNOON

The All-Stars, full of the old pep and fighting spirit, will meet the Beloit High School Informals at Bailey's diamond tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Every fan who cannot get to Footville to see the Janes play is urged to see the All-Stars perform in the Blackhaws' will be idle, this will be the only "big" game in town tomorrow.

The Stars will go through a short practice at 9:30 tonight and Manager Blick will give final instructions. Every man must be there.

Ted Hager looks like the one best bet in the box tomorrow with Blick as second choice. If Hager has his "foam" ball working, the connections will be few. Curt Wall will do much of the duty back of the pitcher. The Stars ed duty back of the pitcher. The Stars ed duty back of the pitcher. The Stars ed duty back of the pitcher.

Not much is known about the pick of Beloit high school, it will not be anyone's game until three men are down in the ninth, or later is necessary.

"Don't forget the only fast game in town will be played at Bailey's woods tomorrow," said Manager Blick today.

Here's the way the two teams will line up for tomorrow's scrap:
All Stars: Fullman, ss; Wall, c; Marko, 1b; McGinley, 2b; Grasslin, 3b; Babcock, lf; Graf, rf; Crowley, c; Zahn, cf; Blick, p; Hager, p.

Beloit: S. Informals: Stevens, rf; Monahan, c; Dawson, 1b; Kemp, p; Hutchinson, c; Jenkins, lf; O'Donnell, ss; Leach, cf; Kelsey, 3b; Schiebel, 2b.

TODAY MARKS OPENING OF FISHING SEASON

Today marks the opening of the fishing season. A number of anglers will get out their hooks and lines tonight ready to start out early tomorrow morning on their first trip of the year. Kosh-konong will attract many while the usual number will doubtless be seen along the river.

Live bait may be used beginning today. W. P. Mason, conservation warden, announces.

The lid on bass fishing is off today with the exception of that on big mouthed black bass, the season for which begins June 15.

"Y" TENNIS COURTS READY NEXT WEEK

Extensive improvements on the "Y. M. C. A. tennis courts on West Main street are being made. This week under the supervision of Physical Director W. P. Craig. The courts are being changed and instead of running east and west they have in the past they will run north and south.

New wire is being put up and the posts are being painted white. With the assistance of some of the young "Y" members, Mr. Craig has skinned the courts and as soon as they are ready they will be ready for use.

It is hoped to have the improvements completed early next week. Tournaments will be arranged and efforts will be made to stimulate more interest in the sport than has been seen here in past years.

about at Bay View park, Toledo, Ohio, July 1, they will compete probably before the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a title boxing bout. This is indicated in the reports of the advance sale of tickets which has now passed the $270,000 mark, and will probably reach $500,000.

The significance of this advance sale is best illustrated through a comparison with the receipts of the Jim Jeffries-Jack Johnson title bout at Reno back in 1910. Pugilistic attendance and financial records were created in that contest, which will be eclipsed in the forthcoming bout. The gross receipts totaled $270,775, and the match was witnessed by a crowd estimated at between 19,000 and 20,000.

In the coming bout, Willard will be boxing for a fat guarantee of $100,000, and Dempsey for a prize of $27,500, a record in purses.

Fritz Malsel, for many years with the Yanks and last season with the St. Louis Browns, has been playing third base and heading the batting order for Jack Dunn's Baltimore International. Malsel has been playing great ball this spring and critics who have seen him in action contend that the little fellow probably will be picked up by some major league club before the season is very old. Malsel is one of the real high salaried players of the internationals, and he should have little difficulty in being a star in that organization.

Eddie Sicking, sent by the Giants to the Phillies recently, is filling the injured Dave Bancroft's place in an acceptable manner.

Frank Snyder, recently returned from overseas and now with the Cardinals, is from San Antonio, the town made famous by Davy Crockett and Ross Tombs.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Toledo, O., May 29.—Jess Willard will arrive in Toledo Saturday and will settle down to training Sunday, for his championship contest with Jack Dempsey her July fourth, it is announced by Archer, business manager of the champion.

Archer will inspect several prospective sites for a training camp today. Willard expects to have sparring partners in camp by Monday. They will include Hempel, Tim O'Neil, a

Detroit, Mich., May 29.—Alleging that Tyrus Cobb kicked her while he was a guest at a hotel in which she was employed on April 25, A. D. Morris, negroess, sued the batting demon for $10,000. The records show that the papers were served on Cobb on the occasion of his reaching first base in the first game of the season on April 26, but somehow Ty forgot to appear in court yesterday to defend the suit and Judge Clyde I. When the flag goes by Memorial Day May 30th

HATS OFF as the flag passes; that has always been the rule, but Americans had to go to war to learn what the flag means, and how to pay honor to it.

Decoration Day is no longer a memorial of the Civil War; it is a day of tribute to all heroic souls who have shown devotion to the highest patriotism; to those who gave their lives, and to those who were willing to do so.

The clothing business can wait while the flag passes
